DENNY OATES IS HOST TO JOHNNY EVERS AT BANQUET IN PARIS

Local Man with K. of C. in France Entertains Noted Ball Player

SENDS REGARDS TO FRIENDS

Denny Oates of Charleroi, now in service in France as a Field Secretary for the Knights of Columbus, entertained Johnny Evers, the great baseball player, who has gone "overseas" to help the Yanks in their ball games, and at the same time give the French a few pointers about our national pastime. Denny entertained Johnny at a banquet in Paris a week ago Sunday evening and it proved to be a very interesting occasion, not only for the guest of honor, but likewise for all others who attended. At this banquet Johnny told of his experience with French, and said that all that was necessary, was to "use your bean and hands. We got into a hotel in Havre the other day. I wanted some hot water. I never learned that kind of French in the Chicago clubhouse. So I called the maid, poured a little water from a glass into my left hand, struck a match with my right and she got it right off the bat."

Mr. Oates wrote a letter to M. T. Crowley regarding his work, saying that everything was going along nicely, with plenty to keep him busy at all times He wished to be remembered to his Charleroi friends, and wants to receive his lodge notices regularly, that he may keep in touch with "doings" in the organizations in which he is a member. Denny is one of the fifteen members of the Oates family now in service in some capacity either in the army or in some activity, eight of whom are now with the American army in France, the others being in training in cantonments in the United States.

ARREST PROPRIETORS; CONFISCATE MACHINES

The police arrested George Mihas at the Charleroi confectionery and Pete George at the Charleroi shoe shining parlor on Sunday, on a charge of disorderly conduct. At the same time they confiscated a slot machine at each place, which were taken to the police station. At a hearing before Burgess Woodward this morning each man was fined $10 and costs while the machines were confiscated.

WHAT A CAMP PASTOR CAN DO

In the second of a series of talks on life in the army training camp, Rev. C. A. Keller related many interesting personal experiences to a large congregation last Sunday evening at the First Presbyterian church

Rev. Keller spoke of the many activities and opportunities for service among t he enlisted men, such as work in the hospitals, letter writing, visiting and carrying messages, securing talent for socials and directing the men to the services in the local churches. The government supplies trucks for transportation to these services and many private autos are placed at the disposal of the men for bringing them to the big churches in the city, where they are assured of a kindly hospitality, which allows no man in uniform to leave the church without an invitation to dinner. Some of the churches serve from sixty-five to a hundred and fifty meals every Sunday.

Rev. Keller tells of a young man he had interested in attending one of these services who so thoroughly enjoyed it that he returned the same day in time for the young people's meeting and stayed for evening service. tIhad been nine months since he had been in a church but after that attended many of the church services. There ismuch to do that requires patience and tact, but the response is encouraging and when some stalwart young man takes your hand with a grip that almost make you wince and says "Good bye sir, I'll never forget you," the camp pastor feels as if he has not labored in vain. The subject for next Sunday evening talk will be "From Citizen to Soldier."

Gives Warning Of Spanish Influenza

Health boards in various cities are warning against the coming of the Spanish influenza which is spreading across the country, and bulletins have been issued containing measures which may be adopted to prevent its spread and cure its victims. Suggestions prepared by Dr. Parks of Pittsburg are as follows:

"The attack of the disease is almost always sudden. It begins with a chill, severe headache, pains in the back, a general feeling of tiredness, flushed face, some sorness of the throat, and a fever from 101 to 104 degrees with arather slow pulse. Usually the crisis occurs after two or three days with rapid and complete recovery, but occasionally severe bronchitis and very often broncho-pneumonia develop. The death rate up to the present time has been very low.

"The best treatment is to go to bed, observe a light diet and keep the bowels open. The spread of this infection would be materially limited if the public would exercise care to avoid spitting in public places and to invariably cover the mouth and nose with ahandkerchief when forced to cough or sneeze. Any member of the family developing acold should be isolated. Crowded street cars, poorly ventilated offices and close rooms at home should be avoided."

Many Should Answer the Red Cross Appeal

The stirring and urgent appeal made by John D. Berryman, chairman of the Publicity Committee of the local Red Cross Chapter, is one that should find a ready response in our community. The roll of active workers who were at the Red Cross rooms last week does not measure up with the patriotism of the community, nor is it of sufficient strength, as pointed out by Mr. Berryman, to turn out the number and quantities of various hospital supplies and dressings asked for by the central committee. This failure to fill the quota is no fault of theloyal women who have labored long and faithfully, day after day, at the Red Cross rooms, turning out the articles desired, for they have gone the limit in devotion and energy and have turned out a marvelous quantity of supplies for hospital work.

The failure for this shortage must be charged up to those who have not answered the call; to those who have felt that other obligations have been more important with them and as a consequence the Red Cross has been almost forgotten, or placed at the foot of the list. We believe there are a large number of loyal women of Charleroi who are able to devote a portion of their time to Red Cross work and possibly have been putting it off until a more convenient season, but the fact is paramount that when a hospital is in need of supplies it cannot put off "until a more convenient season" thework it has in hand. It must be doneat once. Necessity demands that it be done immediately in fact, for hundreds of men are brought in daily to thevarious hospitals who must be cared for; their wounds must be dressed and every other need looked after.

The Red Cross depends upon Chapters like the one in Charleroi for the necessary supplies, and if they are not forthcoming the hospital service in France suffers, which is reflected in thecare given to the brave boys who are battling at the front and who at times are in need of hospital treatment.

The soldier cannot put off his work until it suits his purpose to do it. He has taken an obligation to "go where heis told to go and do what he is told to do." It may not be a very convenient season; it may be at midnight; itmay be in the midst of a storm, or even during a heavy attack by the enemy. Whatever he is ordered to do, that he must do.

The Red Cross work at home should be just as important. We are the second line of defense and it is absolutely necessary that we take care of the work here at home that our boys at the front may have every essential to help them in the mighty and gigantic task in which they are now engaged.

We feel that the appeal of Mr. Berryman will not go unheeded. We believe the patriotic women of our community will respond in largely increasing numbers; that the work rooms of the Chapter will be filled every day, and the proffers of assistance will be so large that itwill be necessary to arrange the volunteers in details, so many working each day. If this is the response, then the Charleroi Chapter of the American Red Cross will be able to meet every quota called for by the National organization, and to meet it at the appointed time.

In this connection it is well to state that many Charleroi women are contributing to the Red Cross work by knitting at home furnishing sweaters, socks and other knit goods and whose efforts are duly appreciated and recognized. We believe their names should be placed on th honor roll with workers who report at the Elks parlors. They are an important factor in the work of our local chapter without whose efforts our contributions our work would be away below requirements.

A meeting of all the vice chairmen of Washington county connected with the coming Fourth Liberty Loan, was held in Charleroi this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, with Kerfoot W. Daly, chairman. The purpose of the meeting was to outline plans for the coming campaign, which will be the most strenuous of any that has so far been undertaken for the sale of Liberty Bonds. Later a meeting of all local chairmen will be held at the Charleroi headquarters, 306 Fifth street, to look over the situation in this community and to prepare some comprehensive plans for the campaign in Charleroi. The vice chairmen after today's meeting will plan their own local activities, to bring the necessities of the situation drectly home to the people. The quota for Charleroi will be announced within the coming week.

GOVERNMENT EMPLOYES HELP FORMER COMRADE

Henry Lysle a well known colored man of Lock Hill, who had been a faithful government employe at Lock Four, as well as at other points along the river, was the recipient a few days ago of a very generous contribution from fellow workers which was greatly appreciated by Henry and his family. Mr. Lysle has been incapacitated for work for some time, and recently Levi Woods of the local government force, conceived the idea of giving a helping hand to their former comrade, and accordingly a solicitation was made among the the men of the steamer Swan and Dredge boat No. 2, all of whom responded. The result was very generous, which was turned over to Mr. Lysle with the compliments of the donors.

P. L. Grove, from the Delaware Division, has been appointed to take the place made vacant by Mr. Mitchell both of these changes becoming effective on the 16th of September.

he Tremoval of Mr. Mitchell takes from the Monongahela Division one of its oldest employes. He began his associaton wth the Pennsylvania in the oMnongahela valley as a supervisor of division, in which capacity he served for a number of years, having his headquarters at Monongahela. Later the Divisions was divided into two districts, one Supervisor being located at Dravosburg and the other at West Brownsville. After serving in this office for some time Mr. Mitchell was made Superintendent of the Division, which office he filled in the most acceptable manner.

Under his administration he has seen the Monongahela Division grow and expand from a single line to a double track Division from Pittsburg to Brownsville, with a number of extensions into virgin coa lfields. He has seen its traffic grow from small proportions to a mighty flow of commerce which moves daily up and down the valley; he has seen a number of new towns rise from the farming lands of the valley into prosperous communities; great mills taking the place of agriculture, and the mining industry expand and extend until it is with difficulty the output of the mines is taken care of. In all of these extensons and expansions he has had a share and while he goes to his new duties with a feeling of satisfaction thathis work here has been done, he likewise takes wth the respect and esteem of all those who worked with him on the local Division.

DEUTSCHLAND UBER ALLES

Much emphasis has been put upon the idea that Prussian militarism was the one thing chiefly responsible for not only the outbreak of the world war but for its continuance. Prussian militarism has been pictured as dominant, compelling, heartless in its instance upon world dominion for Kaiser Bill. To it all the ambitions, the depredations, the cruelties and outrages of German aggression have been attributed.

And we've been largely in error.

For steadily the conviction is being forced upon us that we must revise our estimate of the Germans as a people. We have regarded them as helpless, unwilling victims of an iron discipline, an irresistable system of subjection: sheep being driven to the slaughter as it were.

We've been wasting our sympathy.

Every day the German people are proving more and more conclusively that they are unitedly of one mind with the Kaiser. Nowhere has there been effort made at concerted protest against any existing war hardships imposed, any new militant adventures proposed. Nowhere has there been condemnation of the cruelties practiced in any of the countries the German hordes have over run Nowhere complaint at suffering or sacrifice.

"Deutschland Uber Alles" still dominates the German mind.

It is a united people a people unanimously pledged to aggression, a nation drunk with conquest, that we are fighting. A people heart and soul in the war and sympathetic with all its soldiery perpetrates.

Dismited wecannot hope successfully to combat such a foe.

We must stand together: man to man, shoulder to shoulder.

Dollar upon dollar.

Primarily we must get ready for the next Liberty Loan.

NO GERMAN PEACE

The peace offers of the Central powers will not be accepted by the Allied nations, according to general opinion. While Austria was making these offers it was holding the subjugated nation of Serbia in its grasp. Germany is holding the greater portion of Belgium and parts of France; the Russian nation is practically under German control. while Rumania is nothing more than a vassal state. With these countries and territories in a state of subjection. the Central powers would want to use them as pawns, trading off Belgium for the return of colonies, the same with Russia for some other power lost to Germany and Austria, and so on through the list. The Entente, however, is not to be caught by such a proposition. Peace will come by victory when Germany and Austria and Bulgaria and Turkey have unconditionally surrendered. No compromise on the peace proposition can now be tolerated by the American people. The menace of German militarism must be removed from the earth, and along with the Kaiser and his gang, must be rendered impotent forever. The answer given by President Wilson to the Austrian note is the answer of the American people. The removal of the German army is the first step toward peace, and this job is now under way. Once the military power of Germany is done away with the balance will be easy.

A UNIVERSAL BREAD

That the allies and ourselves are to have the some bread from now on is symbolic of the change in our point of view. Formerly the question of food in the average American household revolved about the family income the likes and dislikes of the family, and the wares of the corner grocer and butcher. We thought little about where food came from, how much there was in the world or what were the needs in different countries. All that mattered to us was that we could get things if wehad the money to pay for them.

At the beginning of the war there were very few Americans who could lay claim to being internationally-minded.

But the change in the food situation touching as it did millions of lives other than our own, has wrought a change in us. Today Americans have reached a stage of development where they can look upon themselves as citizens of the world—a hungry world—when deciding what shall go on their tables. At the common table a man must stop to ask, "how much of this should I have?"

This bread which we share today with the European Allies means the open pooling of war resources. It means the share and share alike of real comradeship in an undertaking bigger than any one nation and in an ideal worthy of them all.

Flattening out the St. Michael salient in 27 hours was a feast accomplished by American arms along the battlefront in France last week. This salient had been a "thorn in the flesh" of the French for four years, who had made repeated attempts to reduce it, but all to no avail. Apparently the Huns were too strongly fortified to remove them. However, the job was turned over to Gen. Pershing and the first American army, and the result was a flattening of the line and the capture of thousands of German prisoners as well as a large quantity of stores, munitions and equipment. The Americans delivered the goods, and they did it in record time.

The American lines are not far from the German coal and iron fields. a short distance from Metz. If the Allied armies should take these fields it would be a severe blow to Germany, as it would materially reduce her supply of ore and coal. both of which are so absolutely essential in the making of munitions. It may be that the American army, in conjunction with some French Division, will attempt a reducton of this field, at the same time keeping their eye on Metz. which is said to be strongly fortified. However. there is no task too big on the other side for the American army. If we go after Metz, the chances are that we will get it.

It acts on the stomach, liver, bowels and kidneys, improves digestion and assimilation, overcomes biliousness, corrects constipation and quickly relieves sick headache.

At Death's Door

"I was talking with my neighbor, Mr. Webb the other day regarding the great trouble his stomach had given him. He said he suffered 7 or 8 years and had been almost at death's door a number of times from acute indigestion and bloating of gas, which seemed to shut off his heart action. He sad hewouldn't have lived much longer if he hadn't taken Mayr's Wonderful Remedy when he did." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes thecatarrhal mucuc from the itestinal tract and allays the inflammation which eauses practically all stomach, ilver and intestinal ailments, including appendicits. One dose will convince or money refunded.

WISE TO THE GAME

This is the type of man our community needs. The man who is "wise to the game." The man who can't be "April-fooled." He is on to all the tricks of the mail order business. He's got them all down pat, and so he smiles as he passes up the gold brick on his way home with his basket of home bought goods on his arm. Take a good look at this man, for we need more of his kind. The crying need of today is for more men and women who refuse to be fooled by this most gigantic swindle of modern times. Every community needs men and women who will investigate for themselves, who will compare home values with out-of-town values. Let us all get wise to this game and place our money in the "Trade-at-Home" basket.
